Yet they are the very basis and foundation of any attempt to better the general health. Knowledge of what is killing us before our time is the first step toward saving our lives. The Census Bureau does its best to acquire this essential information. - Samuel Hopkins Adams in McClure s, July, 1908. Resolved, That the achievement of the registration of all deaths, with their causes, immediately after their occurrence, and the prompt return of certificates from local registrars to the central bureau of vital statistics, thereby giving the sanitary authorities of the state timely information of the exact prevalence and distribution of disease, is the most important of all sanitary measures, and should be unremittingly urged until successfully carried out in every state of the union. - Associated Health Authorities and Sanitarians of Pennsylvania, 1904. Public hygiene is built upon, is...
