Not illustrated. 1803 Excerpt: .It, W Hen I assure you that I am a great admirer of Tristram Shandy, and have, ever since his introduction into the world, been one of his most zealous desenders against the repeated assaults of prejudice and mifapprehension, I hope jou will not treat this unexpected appearance in his company as an intrusion. You know it is an observation as remarkable for its truth as for its antiquity, that a similitude of sentiments is the general parent of friendship It cannot be wondered at, that I should conceive an esteem for a person whom nature had most indulgently enabled to frisk and curvet with ease through all these intricacies of sentiments, which, from irresistible propensity, she had impelled me to trudge through.without merit or distinction. The only reason that gave rise to this address to you, is my accidentally having met with a piece of true Shandean statuary, I mean, according to vulgar opinion, for to such judges both appear equally destitute of regularity or design It was made by a very ingenious gentleman of this province, and presented to the late Governor Dobbs; after his death Mrs. D. gave it me; its singularity made many desirous of procuring it; but I-had resolved at sirst not to part with it, till, upon reflection I thought it would be a very proper, and probably not an unacceptable compliment to my favourite author, and in his hands might prove as ample a sield for meditation, as a...
