Not illustrated. 1897 Excerpt: . . . like the billows of the ocean in a strong tideway, this conformation affording situations for numerous ponds and lakelets, hundreds of which are to be found within the town limits, their clear waters, usually white-sanded shores and bottoms, rendering them attractive features, to say nothing of the Btores of fine fish with which many of them are stocked, either naturally or by artificial methods. The forests are ancient and primeval, sometimes extending for miles without a break save where great fires have devastated, and showing neither building nor clearing in evidence that man ever brought the region under subjection. Within the past decade as many as two hundred deer have been killed in these and the adjacent woods of Sandwich during a single year, and not a season passes that sportsmen or sojourners do not see specimens of this noble game in these locations.
