Anthony* The picture most familiar to the people of New Bedford is that of Main Street, now Union street, a lithograph reproduced from a painting by William A. Wall. It affords a glimpse of the most pretentious neighborhood in the town as it existed a little more than a century ago. Once the picture adorned about every home in the village. When the period of the chromo came the old prints were displaced and many were destroyed. Within a few years old prints have come in vogue and the old New Bedford picture is eagerly sought. The print reveals in the foreground William Rotch in a chaise, the only one in the village at the time, a vehicle said to have been imported from England. Along the street is a row of buildings, a store, a blacksmith shop, the town pound, and last in the line, the old mansion of William Rotch, surrounded by a garden, with poplar trees along the roadside. A few traditions came down of social events in that early day, such as the visit of John de Marsillac from Languedoc, who read the petition from William Rotch to the national assembly of France in reply to which Mirabeau, the president of the French national assembly, made a beautiful apostrophe to the Quakers - I was present, wrote William Logan Fisher in a manuscript still in existence, when he alighted from the stage at William Rotch s door and remember the earnest kisses...
